

Reading the Future

The next 5 years for Unley Libraries

A MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR

Reading the Future – the next 5 years for Unley Libraries has emerged from work that colleagues, officers and the community undertook during the last 15 months.

This strategy will be delivered through our network of accessible sites across the City of Unley, further enhanced with improved online access. Our service will feature more self-service terminals, continued free WiFi, and internet computers with up to date software programs.

We acknowledge libraries should be open when people want them, so we will undertake a review of our opening hours as one of our key actions in this plan.

Libraries have always been about accessing information. We will boost resources to link people to the information they need. We will expand our literacy and learning programs to help people keep up with new technology and support them with self directed learning.

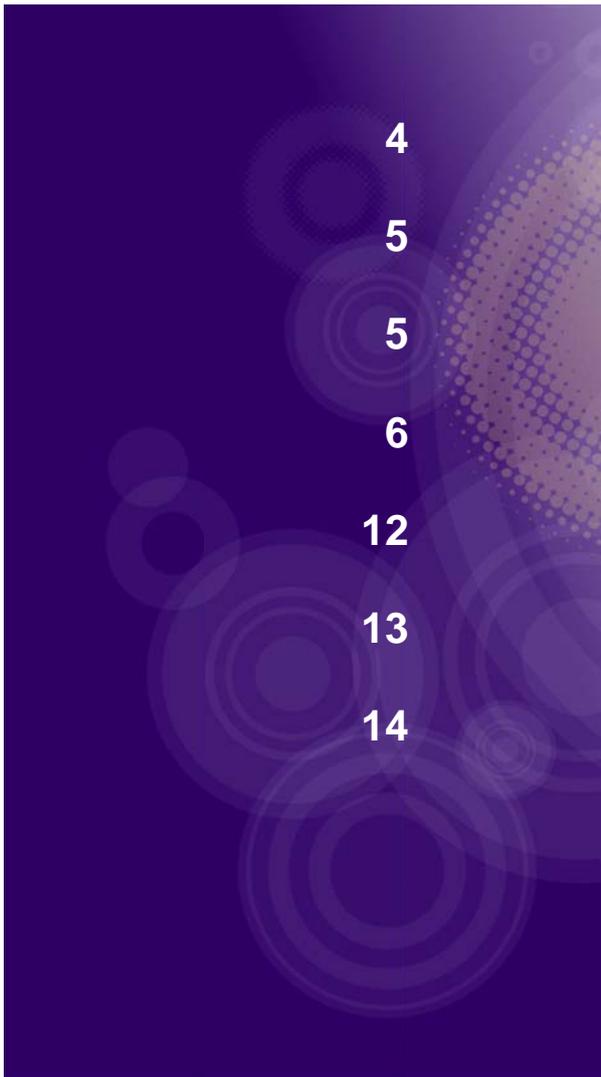

Our library service will provide an alternative environment to formal reading and learning, with easy accessible, welcoming programs catering for all ages. We are planning for well resourced spaces to study, meet or relax. Spaces where laptops are catered for, and informal group discussions will be welcomed.

In direct response to consultation, we will provide a wide range of events and activities to support the community's excitement for reading, personal growth and entertainment.

I would like to thank the community for their active participation in the development of this plan. We are committed to continue providing a best value service through Unley Libraries.

Lachlan Clyne

OUR STRATEGY

Reading the Future is Unley Libraries' Strategic Plan for 2012-2016.

In today's changing environment the library must strive to be modern, relevant and exceed community expectations for accessible information and learning.

It plays a fundamental role as a centre of knowledge available to all in our community. Our democratic society depends on all citizens having access to information and therefore our libraries contribute to the wellbeing of our community. This strengthens our commitment to provide the broadest range of information and ideas in a variety of traditional and electronic formats.

Our free facilities and wireless access will continue to influence the quest for seamless access to information and knowledge. It is anticipated that over the next five years Unley Libraries will become a powerful place for enabling an informed society driven by lifelong learning, reading and fun.

However, this plan does not foresee all the changes and opportunities that may occur in future. It is a flexible document that will continue to respond to the changing expectations of our community and opportunities to improve our services.

Critical to the success of this plan is the continuing support of users, support groups, business and community leaders and staff.

VISION 2016

Unley Libraries is known for its vital resources, services and spaces that support and nurture the hearts and minds of our community. We will:

Make information accessible

Add value to community life

Provide reading, learning and entertainment opportunities

Respond to changing expectations

PRINCIPLES UNDERPINNING THE SERVICE

Equal opportunity - We provide a place where anyone can access information and participate in community life. Life skills - We actively create opportunities for individuals to learn, grow, discover and enjoy. Responsive - We are steadfast in our commitment to improve user experiences. We invest in our staff, technology and infrastructure to achieve the best outcomes for our community. Quality service - We take responsibility for delivering timely, accurate and relevant library services.

CURRENT OFFERING

The Unley Libraries consists of the Unley Civic Library, Goodwood Library, Fullarton Park Library and the Unley Toy Library. We also provide a homebound service and an online presence to complete our six customer service points. The Goodwood Library was refurbished in 2000 at a cost of $1.8m and the Unley Civic Library was refurbished in 2003/04 at a cost of $3.5m.

These refurbishments and the integration of new technology, growing collections and innovative programs have made the service more popular than ever. In 2011, more than 330 000 people visited our libraries with over half a million loans recorded.

The Unley Libraries has transformed itself through deliberate leadership and planning. Our services have gained widespread support from the community. The library is now a place where people can meet, learn and be empowered. There are special areas to meet individual needs, such as quiet study areas, spaces for young people, and meeting rooms to encourage social gatherings.

With free WiFi and computer access and low cost computer courses, we have become a community hub where everyone can bridge the digital divide.

We offer a diverse range of educational and social programs each year. In 2011, more than 13 000 people participated in programs. Programs for families are growing in popularity with over 600 babies and their caregivers participating monthly in BabyTime (an early literacy program).

Our traditional and electronic resources connect people with the information they want and help individuals succeed.

STRENGTHS AND WEAKNESSES

The Unley Libraries' strengths and weaknesses are based on the research undertaken and the feedback received from the community. This provides an important context for determining goals which will help fully realise the vision for the service.

Easily accessible and convenient community places

Weakness: There is duplication of cost and effort in maintaining 3 branches located less than 2 km from each other.

Strength: The close proximity of the 3 branches makes the library a valuable community and social hub for people of all ages. The Unley and Goodwood buildings are reasonably new and attractive and are well supported and appreciated by the community.

Staff expertise and knowledge

Weakness: It is a challenge for library staff to keep up with fast changing technological advancements.

Strength: We have a reputation for excellent customer service. The community places a high value on the human touch, and they want the City of Unley to retain well-qualified, experienced, knowledgeable and welcoming staff to assist them with their information and learning needs.

Strong volunteer support

Weakness: There is great reliance on volunteers to assist within specific sectors of the library service.

Strength: Over 100 people volunteer more than 5,000 hours per year at the libraries. Volunteering at the library connects people with the world of literacy, cultural diversity, and learning.

Well positioned to play a key role in life-long learning

Weakness: There is not enough flexible spaces/zones/resources in our libraries to encourage learning opportunities.

Strength: We play a vital role in lifelong learning with resources skillfully developed to be multi-format, multi-lingual and multi-interest. Low cost community computing courses, free literacy and business enterprise programs help to establish the library as "a street-corner university" and provide access to a variety of resources.

Library technologies

Weakness: Technology changes constantly, but the library is slow to take up new technologies.

Strength: We support our community with a wide range of technologies. Our Unley and Goodwood library branches offer free access to over 22 computers. In addition to this, free Wi-Fi access is available to anyone with a portable device.

OPPORTUNITIES AND THREATS

Our research and interviews with stakeholders identified a range of opportunities and threats. Changing conditions and feedback from our community indicate the following are important opportunities, which will assist the library to achieve its goals:

Establish the library as a preferred destination

Threat: With the advent of broadband and the internet, there might not be a need to visit the library.

Opportunity: Our users demand an increase in the range of information, learning and socialisation opportunities, programs, activities and events. Meeting this demand will further establish the library as the community's preferred destination to meet, interact and learn.

Use new technologies to meet current and future community needs

Threat: The pervasiveness of the internet, increased computer literacy and online social networking are changing the way we deliver traditional library services.

Opportunity: The shift to an information driven society places a premium on access to information resources and the ability to use technology. Technology adds value to the library's traditional offerings and provides us with the prospect to change the way the library communicates and engages with our customers.

Add value

Threat: The social benefit role of public libraries is generally accepted; however, their economic value is not.

Opportunity: Public libraries today operate in a complex environment, one dimension of which is a climate of accountability and transparency. In this climate of accountability, Unley Libraries has the opportunity to communicate the critical role we play in supporting our community with the provision of literacy, information, and life long learning resources.

Develop partnerships

Threat: Traditional library structures are not set up for a partnership approach. The challenge is to develop common goals that will encourage collaboration and integration.

Opportunity: There is an opportunity to collaborate and work innovatively with private and government organisations to increase rich and engaging experiences for our community.
