What to do if you've been scammed

Even when armed with the best information, it's still possible to fall victim to a scam. To help minimise any further damage, follow these three simple steps:

1. Don't panic. Speak with your bank to cancel any affected cards or put your accounts on hold, and immediately change your passwords.
2. If you're concerned that you've been scammed or your personal information has been compromised in some way, please contact Australian Seniors on 13 13 43 immediately.
3. If you've suffered financial loss or your personal information has been compromised, you should log an incident with the Australian Cyber Security Centre or call their hotline on 1300 292 371. A list of resources, including recovery and counselling services, can be found on the Scamwatch website.
